Athletics club £25,000 appeal for new home

■ THE athletics club need £25,000 to refurbish the club's long jump pit, among other things

YEARS of vandalism and anti-social behaviour have driven a Weymouth athletics club away from the town's Marsh Playing Fields.

"Our situation was untenable" said club chairman Tony Faulkner, "We were finding broken glass and dog excrement in the long jumps, dog walkers were not responsibly exercising their animals, and we were suffering more incidences of anti-social behaviour from other users of the Marsh."

Weymouth St Paul's Harriers and Athletics Club is now raising money to upgrade its facilities at its new training venue.

The club and its committee say it was a difficult decision to move away after being based

by Trevor Bevins

at the centre for many years.

The club is moving to Budmouth College, already their venue for indoor winter training.

"It makes sense," said Coaching Co-ordinator Tracy Moore.

"We will now have all our equipment in the same venue and we can work on building a safe and secure future for the club."

Weymouth and Portland Borough Council is providing storage containers for the club to move their equipment to, but the Harriers are now raising money to upgrade the school facilities.

The primary focus is the long jump. It will cost £25,000 to upgrade the existing facility to competition standard.

"It is important that our athletes practice on the kind of pit they will encounter when we go to area and league competitions. A further £25,000 will enable us to add a permanent high jump take off area, and javelin run up," said Tracy.

The club is now running a crowdfunder campaign www.crowdfunder.co.uk/weymouth-st-pauls-harriers-long-jump-to-try-and

PENNY Callaghan owns Colmers Hill Fashion in Symondsburry, and previously ran The Terrace fashion shop and café in Lyme Regis.

She was brought up on Dartmoor and her family ran hotels in Torbay, as well as an aquarium and serpentarium on Poole Quay. She says their entrepreneurial skills rubbed off on her and she enjoyed a career in PR and marketing before moving to West Dorset in 1999 to be closer to family in East Devon.

She now lives with her partner Alistair and her two cats, Louis and Minnie.

● TELL us a little about your career history...

I did a creative arts degree in Nottingham then moved to London and got a dream job at the Barbican Arts Centre helping to co-ordinate a year-long French festival, which included exhibitions, concerts, Royal Galas and themed events.

This gave me a taste for marketing and I moved into top PR and marketing agencies - first Ogilvy & Mather and then Porter Novelli. I worked on some amazing projects including the launch of a new Bentley in the South of France and at London Fashion Week; working on Universal and Paramount video releases such as 'Jurassic Park' and 'Wayne's World' and an award-winning campaign for Gillette.

I then set up my own PR agency in 1995 working with Wembley Arena, Horse of the Year Show, Stuff Live - the UK's biggest home electronics show at Earls Court and a campaign to launch a £30million retail village.

I've always had an interest in fashion but it wasn't until I arrived in West Dorset that it became a business idea. I set up The Terrace boutique and cafe in Lyme Regis and I spent 12 happy years there, building up my buying knowledge and contacts in the fashion world. I like to work with designers who offer something a bit different and individual.

● WHAT inspired you to set up Colmers Hill Fashion?

Having sold The Terrace, I decided I wanted to focus exclusively on fashion. I discovered Symondsburry Manor Yard which I felt instinctively would make a great location for a boutique. The surroundings are beautiful. The whole place has a very relaxed atmosphere, a great cafe, hairdressers, beautician, a gallery, florist, a chocolatiers and plenty of free parking. I wanted to open a shop which is inviting, where people can find unusual clothing and gifts and get a personal but non-hassling service.

● HOW has the business developed over the first #### year?

Last year, I doubled the size of the shop to offer more clothing labels and fashion accessories. I have a lot of regular customers and I've developed a reputation for special occasion outfits. I also have casual clothing, jewellery and accessories. My website

60 SECOND INTERVIEW

(www.colmershill.com) has a good following and I send orders all over the world.

● YOU'RE planning to open a second shop this year. Can you tell us where this will be and what it will offer?

I am really excited to be opening a second shop, in early summer. It will be at Millers Farm Shop at Kilmington alongside Alison from Busy Bee Florist. There will be more casual and every day clothing there but I will still be offering labels that are distinctly different to the high street.

● YOU'RE also currently planning a fashion show for charity, can you tell us a little about the event?

Last year's show was such a hit, we all felt it would be great to do it again and try to raise even more money for Weldmar Hospicecare. We're holding it in the beautiful setting of the Symondsburry Tithe Barn in the evening of Friday, March 31st. There will be gorgeous new spring/summer collections to see and Graham Barton will be hosting it again. Lots of local businesses are supporting the event. All details are on www.colmershill.com or the Colmers Hill Fashion Facebook page.

● WHAT do you enjoy doing in your spare time?

I love getting out, walking and exploring what's on our doorstep and further afield. There's so much available to us in Dorset. I love cooking and last year I joined a small cooking club which resulted in some really interesting meals with each member taking a turns to host.

I think I'm lucky because I really enjoy what I do. I love the buzz of the new clothing ranges, meeting new designers and having a chat with my customers. I don't have a typical 9-5 working pattern and my day off is normally spent relaxing with my partner, friends and family.

I enjoy films too and I always think how fortunate we are to have great value cinemas here.

● WHAT do you like about living in the local area?

I love the pace of life and I like the fact that everyone has time to talk. Every town and village has its own personality and it makes exploring the area so interesting. I also love London but not for too long!

I feel inspired by the natural beauty around me and as my partner is a keen wildlife photographer, we share a love of the countryside. I really like trying out new restaurants and I normally like to have a go at some new dish when I get home - with varying success, I might add!

raise the long jump refurbishment costs.

The club is encouraging former members to remember the fun they had competing for the club and dig deep to secure its future.

Any local businesses wanted to pledge more than £100 will secure advertising space on the club's website and social media pages.

More than £2,000 has been pledged already, including an anonymous donor who donated £1,250, but the club says that, as every pound counts, small donations are just as welcome as the larger ones.

One of the club's members, Susan O'Flanagan is running the London Marathon and the North Dorset Marathon with only a week gap between them to help boost the appeal.

Her supporters are supporting the Long Jump appeal.

The fundraising drive finishes at the end of April.

Apprentices celebrated at college

SOUTH Dorset MP Richard Drax has presented the apprentice of the year award at the culmination of Apprenticeship Week at Weymouth College.

The MP, a strong advocate for apprenticeships, originally teamed up with the college to create the first Apprenticeship Fair in 2014. The one-day event, combining local businesses, students and an inspirational speaker, has now evolved into Apprenticeship Week and the college now attracts more than 500 apprentices.

After an early business breakfast and networking session with members of the Dorset Chamber of Commerce at the college, Mr Drax spoke about increased government support for apprenticeships and encouraged businesses present to get involved.

"We're not telling businesses what to do but we are helping them to do it," he said. "There are massive opportunities ahead and our young people are essential to our success."

At the apprentice awards following the breakfast, the keynote speaker was Tim Martin, Founder/Chairman of the Wetherspoons empire, who said that, after studying for a law degree, he effectively took a three year apprenticeship in pubs, "making all the mistakes going and plenty more."

"If you're good at the academic side, it's great but it's overemphasised in our society," he added, telling students that his best advice was to "keep working."

This year, the Apprentice Week included a photographic competition, an apprenticeship video promotion for all Dorset schools and on Wednesday, an Apprenticeship Fair open evening, which hosted parents, students and potential employers, promoting apprenticeships, try-a-skill opportunities and business stands.

Attempted robberies in Ranleigh Road area

DETECTIVES are appealing for witnesses to come forward after two attempted robberies in Weymouth.

Both offences occurred in Ranleigh Road and officers believe the same man may have been responsible.

The first incident took place at around 8pm on Wednesday, March 8th, as the victim – a local man aged in his 60s – was walking along the road. He was approached by an unknown man who asked for a cigarette, then one pound before he demanded money and pushed himself into the victim. The offender stole the victim's glasses case and ran off. He discarded the case a short time later. No weapon was used.

The offender is described as white, aged in his 30s, five feet 10 inches tall, of average build and with short hair. He spoke with a local accent.

The second incident occurred just before 1.30am today, Thursday, March 9th, in the same section of Ranleigh Road. The victim – a local man aged in his 30s – was walking along the road when he was approached by a man. The offender pulled out a black handled kitchen knife and demanded the victim's money. The victim ran away from the scene and raised the alarm. Nothing was taken.

He described the offender as white, aged in his late 30s, of large build, with dark messy hair and spoke with a local accent.

Detective Constable Sean Garrett, of Weymouth CID, said: "This was a frightening incident for both victims and I would urge anyone who was in the Ranleigh Road area at the relevant time, or saw a man matching the descriptions given, to please contact Dorset Police. I would like to reassure members of the public that officers from the local neighbourhood policing team will be carrying out high-visibility patrols in the area over the coming days."

Anyone with information is asked to contact Dorset Police by calling 101, quoting occurrence number 55170034663 for the 8pm incident or 55170034738 for the 1.30am incident.

Council approves changes to adult social care charges

DORSET County Council's Cabinet has approved changes to the way that charges are calculated for the care and support that adults receive.

Following a 10-week public consultation about charges towards the cost of adult social care, the responses have been used to put together the framework for a revised policy for future charging. More than 370 people gave their views in a variety of ways, showing overall support for changes put forward.

The current policy was last reviewed more than two-years-ago.

The county council will phase in a new, means-tested, policy which will come into effect on April 1st.

From this date, new service users will be assessed under the revised policy. Nothing will change for existing service users until a personalised means-test has been undertaken.

Checks are also being offered to make sure people are claiming all of the welfare benefits they are entitled to receive.

Dorset County Council will write to all existing service users affected by these changes.

Councillor Jill Haynes, Cabinet member for adult social care at Dorset County Council, said: "The revised policy will help us to take further steps towards putting people in control of their own care and support, just as the Care Act 2014 expects us to do.

"We must spend the money we have where it will make the most difference to people.

"We are keen to use the freedom the Care Act gives us to make local policy decisions that are influenced by local people. At the same time, we will adopt the principles in the Care Act that promote affordability, wellbeing, and make sure that we give good support to people who care for others. Generally that involves asking people to contribute towards the cost of their services where a means-test shows they can afford to.

"The welfare benefits advice service the council currently offers will be extended, so that we can help even more people to claim all of the welfare benefits they're entitled to."

Man released without charge

A MAN has been released without charge after an attempted street robbery in Weymouth.

Officers were called to reports that sometime between 8.30pm and 9.30pm on Wednesday January, 11th a man was riding his bicycle outside The Cutter pub in East Street when he was pulled off the bike by a group of men who verbally abused him.

The men demanded the victim's running shoes, coat and his bicycle before throwing empty cans of drink at him and then stamping on him.

The victim, a local man aged in his 40s, wrapped himself around his bike on the road to prevent it being taken.

He suffered minor injuries in the incident. Nothing was stolen.

An 18-year-old man from Weymouth arrested on suspicion of two counts of assault has been released from police bail without charge.

Parking permits go virtual

RESIDENT and visitor on-street parking permits issued by Dorset County Council are going virtual.

Residents are now able to apply online for their on-street parking permits.

The new virtual permits will be electronic and – just like paying for parking on your phone – there will be nothing to display in your vehicle.

The permits will be managed by MiPermit on behalf of the county council and, although residents will be able to contact MiPermit by phone, the online service will make permit applications available at any time of day, 24 hours a day, and ready to use straight away.

Simon Gledhill, Dorset Highways network traffic manager, said: "Our current on-street parking permit holders don't need to do anything until their permit is due for renewal, they will get their usual reminder letter with the details of how to apply for their new permit.

"Our enforcement officers will have access to the registered permit holders through their handheld devices – so although there will no longer be a paper permit in your car, we will still be able provide enforcement in our residents permit scheme areas."

For more information about on-street residents parking permits visit www.dorset-foryou.co.uk/parking

Teen's bike stolen from outside shop

POLICE are appealing for witnesses after a bicycle was stolen from outside a shop in Weymouth.

Officers have released an image of the bike, which was taken from outside the Pets at Home store on the Jubilee Retail Park at around 12.30pm on Sunday, March 12th.

The victim, a 15-year-old boy, had left the bike outside the store for a short period of time. It had not been secured.

The bike is described as a black Carrera Sulcata with orange markings, orange front suspension forks and brake discs at the front and rear.

A man was seen taking the bike and walking off towards Jubilee Close.

The offender is described as having a scruffy appearance, of skinny build and aged in his 30s.

Garage forecourt and shop reopen

RESIDENTS of Winterbourne Abbas, together with local commuters and passing drivers have been celebrating the re-opening of the village forecourt and shop.

Situated on the busy A35 between Bridport and Dorchester, the business closed last year and was subsequently sold to West Country forecourt operators, Chartman Retail. Chartman are an independent group, who were awarded the Forecourt of the year accolade in 2015 at the national Retail Industry Awards.

For ex-Weymouth Grammar School students John Hartshorne and Clive Sheppard the acquisition represents something of a homecoming. After leaving school in the mid 1970's the pair started working together at the former Lodmoor filling station, which John managed at the time. John continued in similar roles whilst Clive went away to University in Southampton, but their paths then met again later before Chartman was founded in 1987.

Since then the company has grown to become the largest independent fuel station operator in the South West, with locations spanning four counties. John and Clive always retained memories of the Winterbourne Abbas site being a busy location in its heyday, and were delighted to secure the purchase of the site with a view to restoring it to its former glory.

Chartman have secured planning approval to redevelop the forecourt with a 2000sq ft shop, and work is under way to bring this about, but in the meantime the first step has been taken by restoring fuel supplies, stocking the shop and introducing Costa coffee, where sales alone reached nearly 100 a day just three days after opening.

THE Winterbourne Abbas garage and shop has reopened

Michele Pupius, who was 62-years-old, died at her home address in Rockhampton Close on Monday, February 27th 2017.

The coroner is making enquiries into the death.

Coroner's Officer Andy Lord said: "The death is not being treated as suspicious, but as yet I have been unable to locate any next of kin for her.

"I would be grateful if any relative, or any friend who has any knowledge of her family members could contact me as soon as possible on 01202 454910."

Dorset Dodder first home in Weymouth's half marathon

SOME of the runners that took on the Weymouth Half Marathon at the weekend

by Trevor Bevins

MORE than 900 runners took part in Sunday's Weymouth Half Marathon.

Changes were made to the course after comments from last year with the event resulting in some morning road and bus route closures.

Organisers, JustRacing, are supporting the Weld-mar Hospice as the official charity partner for the second year with many of the runners taking part to raise funds for their own charities and organisations.

The out and back route took runners along the seafront and town taking them East to Overcombe Corner and back.

Dorset Dodder member Iain Trickett (pictured below, no 759) led the event from the start finishing four minutes ahead of second place James Sewry. The winning time was 1 hour and 10 minutes.

First woman home was Asia Zmyslona in 1:24.

Drug dealer behind bars

A MAN caught dealing drugs in Weymouth town centre has been jailed for five years - with an appeal to find his accomplice issued.

Paul Corrigan, previously of Liverpool but currently of no fixed abode, was sentenced at Bournemouth Crown Court on Monday, March 6th having been found guilty of being concerned in the supply of Class A drug heroin.

The court heard that on Thursday, February 4th 2016, Corrigan, 33, and another man were involved in the supply of 1.216mg of diamorphine to two women in the Melcombe Regis car park.

Subsequent enquiries led officers to Corrigan and he was arrested on Wednesday, September 14th 2016 and charged two days later.

The second man has been identified as 26-year-old Michael Appleton of Manchester. He is wanted by officers in connection with this case.

During sentencing, Recorder Ms Sarah Vaughan-Jones QC described Corrigan as a "prime mover" and said that he played a significant role in the incident.

Detective Constable Ben Singleton, of Dorset Police's Major Crime Investigation Team, said: "Drug dealers such as Paul Corrigan have no place in Weymouth and I hope the sentence handed out by the courts will send a very strong message that anyone caught dealing drugs in our communities will be arrested and dealt with robustly by the courts."

Inspector Pete Browning, of Weymouth police, said: "Drug misuse and the acquisitive crimes associated with it have a detrimental effect on our communities.

"As part of ongoing police work, we will continue to collate police intelligence and information from the community to keep the pressure on and rid our streets of drug dealing, misuse and the anti-social behaviour that goes with it.

"We take the concerns of the public very seriously and we will continue to work closely with members of the Weymouth community to keep the town safe and proactively deal with information relating to drugs offences and other criminal or anti-social behaviour.

"I would urge members of the public who may have concerns, suspicions or any information about the misuse of drugs to contact Dorset Police at www.dorset.police.uk, via email

Anyone with information as to the whereabouts of Michael Appleton should dial 999 immediately. Anyone else with other information should call 101 quoting occurrence number 55160047430 or Crimestoppers in confidence on 0800 555 111.

Held at the Greenhill Putting Green to event raised £211 which was then match funded by Lloyds Bank bringing in £422.

Iain Turnbull, who runs the putting green along with the Jurassic Rock Cafe and Greenhill Tennis Courts, provided the venue free of charge, and Steve Harley from Lloyds Bank agreed that Lloyds would match fund the total that was raised.

Approximately 40 people took part in the tournament, which was won by Steve Harley. Mr Turnbull said he hopes that the tournament will now become an annual event.

New lease of life for Broadwindsor Craft Centre

SARAH and Colin Williams are the proud new owners of Broadwindsor Craft Centre. Having grown up in the village on her dad's farm, Sarah worked at the craft centre from the age of 14. She worked under the leadership of Val in the kitchen, who is still there now, before moving on to Bournemouth college to complete a catering qualification.

Sarah went on to manage pubs in Bournemouth and Guildford before looking after a group of restaurants in the South East. However, after a number of years in the catering business working every hour possible, she decided on a career change and became an estate agent! It was at this time she met her husband Colin, who worked for the same company. Marriage and children soon followed and the couple moved to Petersfield to raise their family.

In recent years, Sarah has felt the need to move home and back to Dorset and would spend many an evening looking on Right Move to see what properties were available in the area. That's when, completely by chance, she spotted the craft centre was up for sale. Colin had also got to know the craft centre as they would often go for lunch there when visiting Sarah's family and they would often talk about what they would do if they owned it, so when Sarah spotted it was for sale, they couldn't resist and the rest is now history.

With all the uncertainty that surrounded the craft centre when it was up for sale with planning permission granted a number of the individual units were vacated. Now the craft centre's future is secure, a couple have already been filled, including one by the very popular Becca's fabric studio, who is currently based on St Michael's Trading Estate in Bridport. Sarah and Colin are refurbishing the empty units and are still on the look out for new tenants to fill them who create and sell quality, local craft.

The main aim for the new owners is to make Broadwindsor Craft Centre a destination where you can happily spend a few hours. Sarah is passionate about supporting local crafters and in the immediate future is introducing a "Crafters Corner," displaying a range of local craft by those that can't commit to having a unit full time. The next job is then the rebuilding of the garages, to transform them into a workshop to run courses from as well as introducing new product lines into the shop.

The restaurant remains open and is the perfect place for morning coffee, a delicious lunch, or afternoon tea.

Broadwindsor Craft Centre is open seven days a week from 10am-5pm.

Bowlers abandon record attempt

A TEAM of Weymouth bowlers were forced to abandon their 72-hour Guinness world record attempt on Saturday morning.

Players were attempting the longest ever game of indoor bowls at Moonfleet 2000 but were forced to stop on Saturday morning after one of the players suffered back problems. They had started the marathon on Friday.

Despite a sports therapist being called in during the early hours it was decided to halt the attempt rather than risk further injury.

The team aimed to raise awareness of the sport, and were also raising money for charities including Help for Heroes and Meningitis Now.

New Zealand remain the current record-holders at 52 hours.

Historic Dolly Varden is set to make waves once again

AN exciting project is set to come to Weymouth as a team of volunteers restore a famous racing yacht.

The Dolly Varden was built in Cowes in 1872. Now one of the oldest ships on the National Register of Historic Vessels, volunteers from Weymouth are keen to restore the 37ft yacht to her former glory.

Grahame Knott of Weymouth, Founder and Chairman of The Shipwreck Project, recently discovered Dolly Varden in a field near Wool and instantly felt a connection to such an important part of UK maritime history.

He said: "I just couldn't believe that the Dolly Varden was still intact. She is so well known throughout history but disappeared in the early 1990s. Everyone thought she had been scrapped, but it turned out she had been in a field for 25 years waiting for someone to realise her importance and potential."

Dolly Varden has an interesting history. Her build was initially based on the Itchen ferry fishing vessels, but after changing hands in 1888, she was transformed into a famous racing yacht by her new owner, Thomas White Ratsey, of the eminent Ratsey & Laphorne sail makers. Here she was also used to test different sails and rigs for the America's Cup.

Mr Knott added: "A friend of George V, Ratsey is known to have entertained the king and queen on board in 1935 and we suspect that they also raced on board Dolly. We are so excited to be preserving such an integral part of British heritage and maritime history."

Dolly Varden is currently in Dorset thanks to the help of Dave Caddy from local firm Kingfisher Marine. Over the coming months the team of volunteers plan to assess the ship's elm hull and begin work on her restoration. This will involve fundraising for the project, the aim of which is to return her to a racing yacht.

For more information, or to help, visit dollyvarden.co.uk.

BEAMINSTER based Mr Motor Repair Co are celebrating 30 years of business this year, and owner Marty Wright would like to thank all their customers for their support and custom over the years.

The family owned business used to be a garage called LH Gibbs and Co but this business broke down in the 70's and the Wright family bought the premises in 1986 and set about making it into a much larger working premises. With completely digging out the back and making the working space wider and flat this gave the garage much more space to accommodate more vehicles.

Over the last 30 years the garage has always been a family run affair with Marty Wright at the helm. Marty works along side fellow mechanic Jon who has been with Mr Motor Repair Co for 25 years. Jon has been working at the garage since he left school at 16 and completed his training here also.

Affordable homes will be available if WDDC planning policy is followed

I REFER to the letter from Barry Thompson (View From 08.03.17) and have to say I support much of what he says with maybe a reservation or two.

My reservations are minor, but in particular I fully support his praise for the work done by council officers on the Local Plan, which could see a further 4,500 houses build locally, and I can see no reason under current legislation why that could not bring forward a further 1,500 affordable houses if West Dorset District Council planning policy is followed. Not only would the waiting list be cleared, but a better chance would be given to young local people to remain in the area.

Barry Thompson's local Labour Party view is in stark contrast to the view promoted in the Liberal Party Focus news sheet distributed in Dorchester this week, where they are blaming the "Conservative run West Dorset District Council" for examining possible sites surrounding Dorchester that are "in or close to Areas of Outstanding Natural Beauty" and "close to heritage assets".

As one of those dreadful Conservatives on West Dorset District Council, I suggest this is an over egged protest. One cannot turn a sod in Dorchester without upsetting a heritage asset and they complain about proposals that are merely close to such assets. Equally there is only one Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, which covers most of the land to the south and west of Dorchester, and only one site is due for consideration in that area. That land already houses an anaerobic digester gas producing plant and formally a radio station pylon array together with a Dorset County Council bus depot.

What the Liberals fail to mention, and seem to disregard, is the affordable housing that would be forthcoming if development on some (and I stress "some") of this land is achieved. Do they really intend to discard the young and homeless or do they simply want their cake and eat it?

Borneo trekker's fundraising feats

AN adventurous Dorset, couple who will be trekking in the Borneo jungle later in the year with Weldmar, held a fund-raising coffee morning at Osmington on Saturday.

Sandra and John Wayman say they jumped at the chance to take part in the event and to raise money for the hospice care charity.

They are no strangers to the jungle having previously visited the Amazon and tropical jungle in Australia.

"But I am not looking forward to the lack of facilities," admitted Sandra, whose other activities for Weldmar have included several Midnight Moonlight Walks and the now annual dance competition.

Both are hoping for a glimpse of orangutans in their natural environment during the trek.

The couple will be paying for the trip themselves so every penny that they raise in fund-raising ventures, such as the coffee morning at Craig's Dairy, will go to the charity.

They already have an evening lined up at the Spice Centre, Dorchester, on May 9th, with local musician Nina Garcia, and Bingo.

"It sounds an odd combination, but it really does work and it's good fun," said John.

Tickets are limited to 120 and cost £12 which includes a meal and the evening's entertainment. They can be obtained by calling 01305 854123 or from the Weldmar website and the Spice Centre in High West Street.

Also available to raise funds is a paper quiz which can be picked up from the Weldmar Shop in Trinity Street or from Arthair and the Frampton Arms at Moreton.

Future plans include a cocktail evening in Beaminster in the summer and a concert by the Encore Choir at Dorchester United Church on June 24th, which will include a performance by the couple's daughter, Louise, a professional operatic soprano.

■ SANDRA and John Wayman at their coffee morning at Craig's Dairy, Osmington on Saturday

The Borneo challenge trek takes place between October 13th and 22nd in the primary jungle of Borneo. As well as the challenging trek, participants will identify edible fruits and plants, learn vital jungle survival skills as well as be on the lookout for wild orangutans.

Organisers say the facilities are basic, with no toilet, washing or bathing facilities whilst in the jungle. Temperatures could reach up to 40 degrees in the day and the terrain will be varied and steep at times. Trekkers will have to carry their own water and daytime supplies on their back. Training is key for this challenge but Weldmar will organise group training walk, along with advice on what boots and backpack to have for the challenge.

Matt Smith, Weldmar's Community & Events Fundraising Manager, said "As with all our treks, at times they will be physically, mentally and emotionally challenging but, unlike a lot of other charity treks, you will be joined solely by Weldmar supporters who are all taking part for the same reason."

You can watch a video about the trek by visiting Weldmar's website - www.weldmarhospice.org.uk/jungle

Celebrate Mother's Day with Finding Dory in Bridport Arts Centre's Cinema

BRIDPORT Arts Centre are wishing you all a happy Mother's Day with a special relaxed screening of the family film Finding Dory, Pixar's sequel to the beloved Finding Nemo.

Finding Dory welcomes back to the big screen everyone's favorite forgetful blue tang Dory, who's living happily in the reef with Marlin and Nemo. When Dory suddenly remembers that she has a family out there who may be looking for her, the trio takes off on a life-changing adventure across the ocean to California's prestigious Marine Life Institute, a rehabilitation center and aquarium.

In an effort to find her mum and dad, Dory enlists the help of three of the Marine Life Institute's most intriguing residents: Hank, a cantankerous octopus who frequently gives employees the slip; Bailey, a beluga whale who is convinced his biological sonar skills are on the fritz; and Destiny, a nearsighted whale shark.

Deftly navigating the complex inner workings of the Marine Life Institute, Dory and her friends discover the magic within their flaws, friendships and family.

The film is a relaxed screening which means that the soundtrack volume is reduced and low lighting is left on. It's fine to make noise, move around or leave the cinema. Relaxed screenings are great for families with young children, people with sensory difficulties, anxiety or learning disabilities.

Finding Dory Sunday 26 March, 3pm - Tickets in advance from www.bridport-arts.com or on the door.

Celebrating Dorset's wonderful women

HUNDREDS took part in the annual Women's Day event at Dorchester's Dorford Centre on Saturday.

Workshops, stalls, demonstrations and a "rummage room" were among the attractions of the day with a laughter workshop packed to capacity.

There was also music from the Rock Choir and others.

"The day was a great success and there was a really positive atmosphere, the musical performances were really uplifting. We've had lots of positive feedback from people attending the workshops, and the stall holders have said they had a great day too," said chair of the Women's Network Dorset Maria Clark, whose organisation staged the event.

Other event which took part in the week included a "Feminine and Fabulous" confidence building workshop, Well Women Yoga and free swimming and exercise classes.

Said Tracey West one of the WAND patrons: "Women are incredible humans; we're equals, we have value, we have a voice and we shouldn't be afraid to use it to protect our rights and to make the world a better place."

Weymouth Matters

A personal View by HARRY WALTON

■ THIS week's Growing Old Disgracefully looks at mobility scooters and whether they match elderly people's needs.

Some might feel that scooters are enough of a menace already because they are largely driven by elderly people whose reactions, to say the least, perhaps aren't what they were.

But there is an alternative school of thought among some pensioners wistful for the car they had to give up who feel a sedate 2mph glide isn't for them and that their scooters don't go fast enough.

I'm bound to say that limiting scooters to gentle speeds gets my vote since the prospect of Albert and Agnes cutting loose and racing each other down St Mary Street in their new 1.5 litre twin cam 0-60mph in five seconds mobility scooters is a recipe for disaster.

Unsuspecting shoppers should not have to leap for their lives at the air horn sound of Marching Through Georgia just because some octogenarian speedster feels like "burning up" the town centre.

So we'll keep things as they are, thank you...at least until I have to give my car up!

Humans are just as much to blame as seagulls

WEYMOUTH has a serious problem with seagull attacks and foraging, particularly on the Esplanade.

But hearing that politicians are now debating the national problem of seagulls doesn't fill me with confidence that anything useful will come out of the House of Commons.

Seagull control experts recently said that this was a war they could not win not least because the bird is protected and there can be no cull of its numbers which in any case are Red Listed as being dangerously low.

That leaves deterrent as the only way forward be it roof spikes, wires, netting or water rifles. So what can we expect politicians to achieve that the experts say they cannot?

Well for a start MPs are unlikely to reach a swift decision because there will have to be debates on what is or is not a gull, the types, timing and frequency of attacks and predations and – most time consuming of all – who is going to pay for whatever course of inaction is chosen.

Meanwhile the gulls are sharpening their beaks ready for the 2017 feathered fast food season.

Last year I was attacked by a gull in Poole which buffeted my face and arm, knocking my tasty sandwich to the ground where the bird wolfed it down. Passers-by checked I was OK and told me I'd inadvertently sat on a bench at the centre of many gull attacks, but Weymouth can be just as bad.

Only last summer I saw numerous incidents of gull gorging, perhaps the most startling of which came when a man successfully beat off one gull's attempts to grab his seafront lunch only for another gull to sneak in behind him and gobble almost an entire cod and chips in less than five seconds.

How their neck seems to expand to take in any shape of food is unbelievable.

The brutal truth is that we can't tackle the gull problem unless we tackle our own attitude to food and food disposal.

By all means warily enjoy an open air seafront meal, but to walk away from table leaving meal remains in plain site is just a green light to encourage gulls to swoop down.

From there it's just a short flight from gulls grabbing food from empty tables to gulls trying to grab food from people while they are still eating.

The only way to educate gulls is to remove the food attraction and you don't need a ponderous parliamentary debate to appreciate that.

Maybe not such a light bulb moment for council decision makers

BE with you in a minute...just trying to find my front door key in the dark because all the street lights have been switched off.

It's part of alleged county council savings worth £500,000 gained by switching off four out of five street lights across the county for part or all of the night.

This apparently means that the authority doesn't have to put so many shillings in the meter and can have a bit of extra cash for much needed projects, but what sort of projects?

Well, some of the cash might go towards meeting redundancy payments for a number of county street light repair workers who clearly aren't going to be needed so much.

But most of the cash will be put aside to handle a mountain of legal actions against the council brought by pedestrians tripping over in the dark and people with burns caused by trying to use cigarette lighters to see where they are going.

One of the more serious concerns residents have about the "switch-off" is that thieves, vandals and burglars are bound to fancy their chances a lot more for a quick bit of smash and grab or breaking and entering because they can't be seen. And if because of this residents respond swiftly and violently to anyone they catch in their darkened home then it may be too late to offer soothing words to granny after you've smashed her over the head a few times with a baseball bat.

In short, everyone can see the concept of saving money by switching off most street lights but they may need a lot of convincing that there aren't a shed-load of drawbacks to go with such cuts....and I still can't find my front door keyhole. Has anyone got a torch?!

Reflexology is a technique in which specific points on the hands and feet are stimulated and this influences seemingly unconnected internal and external parts of the body – nobody yet knows exactly how it works, but its effects are undeniably beneficial.

Some of the benefits of reflexology include its ability to stimulate nerve function, increases energy, boosts circulation, induces a deep state of relaxation, eliminates toxins, stimulates the central nervous system, prevents migraines, cleans up urinary tract conditions, speeds recovery after injury or surgery, helps relieve sleep disorders, reduces depression, and relieves pain. Furthermore, it can help ease the treatment of various cancer and even helps to soothe the pains of pregnancy, even those occurring after the baby is born.

From a purely anatomical viewpoint, each foot has thirty-three joints and is innervated by thousands of nerves. By using specific Reflexology techniques, one directly affects the nervous system in a very positive, relaxing way. When the body is relaxed and the nervous system stimulated, healing has a perfect opportunity to take place. Healing comes from inside out!

Magic extremely pleasant and healing treatment! Because Reflexology brings total relaxation, it can complement any health care work.

Orchid SPA Review by Jodie Glover

WITH Mother's day approaching I wanted to treat my mum to a relaxing spa day and I was intrigued to give Orchid spa a go. This hidden gem in Chideock is somewhere I would highly recommend to anyone looking for a real indulgent treat!

Upon our arrival we were guided through the Cherry blossom Orchard, perhaps to soon as the trees were bare but come Mother's Day they should be in full bloom! A welcome chat with Tanya talked us through our personal schedule planned from the booking details and we were led to the changing room complete with dressing gowns and slippers for us to wear during our time at the spa.

On to the first treatment - the Hydrotherapy Hot Tub. This was unlike any other Hot Tub I have tried with each seat offering it's own area of focus from jets all around your shoulders to ones working into the lower back. My mum and I had a great time moving from seat to seat, really making the most of the generous time slot we had. My favourite was the lounge which worked in a lying down position shooting jets all around the back and leg muscles with a nifty foot massaging jet at the bottom.

If that wasn't luxurious enough, Tanya visited us with honey sweetened herbal tea served in china teacups and saucers. From previous experiences, I expected busy changing rooms, shared facilities and paper cups so to have our own schedule with dressing gowns and now proper teacups, we really did feel like VIPs.

Relaxed, we were then separated for individual treatments. Off to the sauna for me with the infrared technology working from all around opposed to the traditional pot of coals in the corner. This created a controlled heat and paired up with calming music and soothing aromatherapy oils, it was a really indulgent experience.

Meanwhile my mum was receiving her requested reflexology treatment, something she has been raving about for the entire week since. Tanya worked on the pressure points in the feet and, by finding tender spots, could pinpoint and work on areas of health issues in the body.

We swapped and it was time for my treatment, a back, shoulder and neck massage. In the past I have found massages either don't do anything or they end up being painful rather than relaxing. Tanya however worked in a very skilled way using numerous techniques and, whilst she really worked into the muscles, at no time was I uncomfortable. I can honestly say it was the best massage I have ever had and will definitely be booking in again.

If you want the full spa experience it is the perfect place for one or two people, suited to couples or as a Mothers day treat.

With a busy schedule Tanya is sure to be booked up ahead so make sure to get in touch soon and book your space to guarantee the perfect Mother's day experience.

Cleveland's VocalSuite comes to Dorset venue

VIRTUOSO vocalist, actor and composer Cleveland Watkiss has performed with a host of diverse artists from around the world, including the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra, Bob Dylan, Stevie Wonder and the BBC Orchestra. Now this spring, Cleveland will perform his acclaimed show VocalSuite at two rural venues in Dorset through Artsreach, the counties touring arts charity.

Using a breathtaking vocal range that makes seamless links between musical cultures, three times Wire/Guardian award-winning vocalist Cleveland Watkiss blends improvisation and counterpoint harmony, electronics, break-beat loops and basslines, all live and from his mouth, to stunning effect, creating a unique orchestral vocal soundscape.

VocalSuite is an elusive a capella vocal improvisation performance that uses the atmosphere of venue, mood and interactivity of audience to present a performance of the moment; seamless links between musical cultures from Africa to Europe go together to create human vocal soundscapes. Fusing voice and technology, using real-time looping to create live compositions, no two performances are ever the same. The collaborations he has created reflect the diversity of the musical styles in the pieces, ranging from classical to African rhythm, to jazz and choral. Expect a musical journey like no other with this acclaimed vocalist.

Vocal Workshop Masterclass with Cleveland Watkiss

CLEVELAND will also be running a vocal workshop in Wootton Fitzpaine ahead of his concert on Saturday, March 18th. Songerama Drama is where singing, drama, performing and confidence building meet up, and are unlocked through Cleveland's special gift skill with improvisation. Rhythm's of the world, Melodies, Text, Movement and Stories are created spontaneously, in the moment, and interwoven in a friendly and encouraging environment. These workshops are for ALL Ages and abilities! Call 01297 560948 to book.

Cleveland Watkiss performs at Wootton Fitzpaine Village Hall on Saturday, March 18th at 7:30pm. For more details call 01297 560948.

Lyme's Jazz and Blues Bonanza

TICKETS are now on sale for a star-studded musical marathon at the end of May say organisers of Lyme Regis Jazz & Blues Weekend.

Ruby Turner, one of Britain's finest female soul singers, will headline this year's festival on Saturday 27th May. Best known for her work with the Jools Holland R&B Orchestra, Ruby's had a successful recording career in her own right, with four albums to her credit and a number one hit in the US R&B chart. Combining the vocal power of Janis Joplin with the gospel soul of Aretha Franklin, Ruby will be performing with her own band in Lyme Regis for the very first time - one of the few chances to see her in this part of the country.

Joining Ruby over the weekend will be the UK's No 1 swing band, The Jive Aces, featuring vocalist Amy Baker, who promise a spectacular high energy stage show to get everyone on their feet - or dancing in their seats - and the festival off to a flying start. They've thrilled audiences around the world with swinging originals and R&B classics, performing at Royal Albert Hall, Glastonbury and even the London Olympics!

Blues-benders, Wille & The Bandits, were voted as one of the top ten "must see" bands at Glastonbury and are one of the best live acts in the country. Having played with Deep Purple, Joe Bonamassa and Status Quo, they marry Jimi Hendrix with the Delta

Jive Aces

Blues, using slide guitar, gritty vocals and pulsating beats, to create a uniquely exhilarating "British" blues sound.

Swing Unlimited All Stars Big Band are guaranteed to thrill audiences with their exciting, energetic and entertaining new show which gives Count Basie's music a modern twist, featuring old favourites and originals never performed before. The clue's in the name - this gig will swing and is a musical treat for all big band fans.

The Gatsby Gang, will host a BBQ at The Pilot Inn, bringing the roaring twenties bang up to date with a vintage collection of swinging classics combined with Rachael Robert's silky vocals for an afternoon's infectious feel-good jazz. The Sound of Blue Note will recreate the legendary sounds of Blue Note Record label for a cool, classy Sunday Brunch performed to pedigree standards at By the Bay.

Julie Sheppard, the festival director, said: "We've got a very strong line up at this year's festival as well as a programme of free events on the seafront and around the town across the four day Bank Holiday weekend, including BSharp's annual Busking Festival. The weekend will bring together musicians of all ages, abilities and tastes in a celebration of music-making by the sea. Bring it on."

The full festival line-up, including all the performers on the seafront and in other venues, will be available in a free programme to be published at the end of the month.

Save the Dates for Some Amazing New Adaptations

THIS YEAR'S From Page to Screen audiences can expect some amazing new adaptations when the film festival returns from Wednesday 19th – Sunday, April 23rd.

This year's line up includes three times Oscar winner Moonlight, Hidden Figures, Lion and family favourite Beauty & the Beast. Plus this year of the festival will have not one but two preview screenings.

Their Finest stars Gemma Arterton, Sam Claflin and Bill Nighy. Set in London, 1940 it tells the story of fledgling screenwriter Catrin Cole (Arterton) who joins the Ministry of Information's Film Division and starts working on a propaganda movie.

Lion tells the extraordinary true story of Saroo Brierley, who was born in India but adopted by an Australian couple after he was separated from his family.

Beauty and the Beast retells a timeless tale for a new generation. Belle (Emma Watson), a bright, beautiful and independent young woman, is taken prisoner by a beast (Dan Stevens) in its castle.

While Moonlight chronicles the childhood, adolescence and burgeoning adulthood of a young black man growing up in a rough neighbourhood of Miami.

Nick Marston, the Chairman of the Theatre, Film and Television Department at Curtis Brown, one of the oldest literary agencies in Europe will be the Curator for this year's festival.

He said "We will be showing some terrific films, both brand new ones and others well worth another look. I am looking forward to it immensely."

A full line up will be announced soon.

Levantes Dance Theatre presents The Band

A STRIKING new production by Levantes Dance Theatre, THE BAND is the tragic-comic story of faded pop duo Sandy and Bruno, a couple united by desperate ambition and blind affection. Artistic director Eleni Edipidi collaborates with choreographer and dancer Nathan Johnston to devise and perform this humorous show, told using an alchemic mix of original choreography, physical comedy, acrobatics and striking aesthetics.

Sandy and Bruno met in the seventies and formed a band: she was fame hungry, he was doomed to follow her. But like so many one-hit wonders, through time they've been cruelly forgotten; washed up on the scrap heap. Now, they are opening the skeleton cupboard, dusting off old costumes and preparing for a comeback. Is this their last chance for fame? This is a story about love, failure, illusion, drama, glitter and tenderness.

For THE BAND, Levantes Dance Theatre's joint artistic director Eleni Edipidi collaborates for the first time on a full-scale touring production with charismatic performer Nathan Johnston. A departure from Levantes' female duets, each brings their own unique physicality to a captivating performance that sets original choreography, theatre, circus and the company's bold visual style to a rousing soundtrack. The vibrant multi-disciplinary work brings together new and long-term collaborators including Tina Koch, joint artistic director of Ockham's Razor, and multimedia artist Gopan Iyadurai.

Levantes Dance Theatre consists of key practitioners Bethanie Harrison and Eleni Edipidi, who formed the company in 2005 to create bold, innovative work that tells human stories with flare and gusto. Its trademark visuals and stylistic choreography ensures a thrilling collision of physical theatre, dance and circus performance. Levantes Dance Theatre are Associate Artists at Greenwich Dance.

The performance comes to Bridport Arts Centre on Friday, March 24th. For more details and to book call 01308 424204 or visit the website at www.bridport-arts.com

AN INCREDIBLE DINING EXPERIENCE IN AN ELEGANT SETTING

WHATEVER your culinary tastes, you can be assured a warm welcome, delicious food and great hospitality at The Royal Lion Hotel.

The "Oak Room" restaurant offers a formal setting with classic cuisine, a regular weekend pianist and an amazing ambience; however The "Inn" promotes a more traditional fayre with a relaxed atmosphere and a great selection of wines and local ales.

We are very proud to announce our new addition to the Kitchen; Head Chef Dave Burns who joined us in February. Dave brings to us an abundance of experience and a great passion for food as well as creative ideas and a commitment to locally sourced produce.

Dave has worked hard on his first promotion for Mother's Day lunch on Sunday 26th March, which combined with a 2 night Dinner Bed and Breakfast break for the weekend, will prove to be a real pleasure for anyone wanting to treat their mums, (please see our full menu on the opposite page). Dave has also just completed his new Spring menu for The Inn, which will be launched on Monday 27th March in addition to the daily changing special boards and of course his very popular and renowned Sunday lunch.

"I am very excited about the future success of both The Oak Room Restaurant and The Inn; with outstanding quality, great choice of menus and amazing support from the entire brigade" says Dave. He continues "The combination of a traditional setting but with a modern twist, attracts a wide variety of visitors to both venues; with a mutual vision and passion for what we are aiming to achieve, it is a perfect arrangement".

Here are a few reviews we have recently received from our guests;

"Superb Food"

"Excellent quality breakfast"

"Outstanding service"

The Eulogy of Toby Peach

Celebrating life through one man's journey with cancer

TERRIFYINGLY, one in two of us will experience cancer first-hand. Toby Peach brings this universal issue to the stage and his highly acclaimed, five-star, award-winning Edinburgh Fringe show will come to Dorchester on Saturday, March 22nd.

The Eulogy of Toby Peach is a discovery of self-mortality. This original piece explores the true story of Toby's journey with Hodgkin's Lymphoma that he faced at the age of 19 and again at 21. Toby takes an important and difficult subject and delivers it in a refreshing, insightful and humorous way. The show delves into the moments when a eulogy may have been a very real possibility for Toby and how those moments changed his life forever.

Toby comments 'I'm really excited to be giving The Eulogy a new lease of life in 2016. We were so inspired by the learnings and ideas taken away from the experience last year. Since Edinburgh we've been invited by numerous charities to bring The Eulogy to their audiences; receiving a standing ovation from 300 young people and their support teams at Teenage Cancer Trust's conference Find Your Sense Of Tumour was an unbelievable experience. I cannot wait to reach more audiences across the UK with our show and outreach work, continuing to raise awareness about cancer whilst delivering a show that engages its audiences in this difficult subject matter.'

The Eulogy of Toby Peach started life as a short story performed at the BAC, subsequently gaining developmental support from Old Vic New Voices. It was awarded the IdeasTap Underbelly Award in 2015. The Wellcome Trust and Arts Council England have generously funded the UK tour of The Eulogy of Toby Peach.

It's not all song and dance at the Theatre this week

IN THEATRE, just like in life, it's good to occasionally be taken out of your comfort zone and this is something I've had to learn over the last two years.

Given the choice, my ideal viewing is and always will be an all singing, all dancing musical, but recently my eyes have been opened to a whole world of theatre, which I had no idea could be quite so enthralling.

Like film and television, it's sometimes the darker material, which has more of an impact, so, rather than shows with tap shoes and plenty of vibrato (my preferred theatrical lot), this week has been filled with powerful portrayals and productions I would never normally choose to see.

It's great to experience a full range, but you do need to make sure you're emotionally robust (which I'm not!) before you visit and my delicate state was well and truly tested right at the beginning of the week with a trip to Thomas Hardy School.

I was invited to see the A-Level Drama students perform their examination pieces and although there was a wealth of exceptional talent on display, some of the subject matter, which they had chosen was horrific; boundary pushing in every sense and worryingly thought provoking.

My next theatre trip wasn't much cheerier either as I headed off to Southwark Playhouse to see The Diary of a Teenage Girl. I like to go in cold when it comes to theatre and try not to read too much about shows before my visit and so, I had in my mind that the production was going to be a, kind of, girl's version of Adrian Mole.

How wrong could I be? It turns out very. Although the play is a comedy, it's actually about a girl being sexually abused, so I failed to see the funny side. That said, it was very well done and as a critic, you have to take into consideration the quality of the production, not just your own personal taste when you are reviewing something.

Next on the list was a visit to the Harold Pinter to see Imelda Staunton and co in Who's afraid of Virginia Woolf?. The multi-award winner was absolutely majestic throughout, but I have to admit that I had no idea what was going on for most of play.

I then trooped down to the Old Vic to see Daniel Radcliffe in Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead, which although wordy and at times a little baffling, provided the light relief I had been longing for all week.

All of the plays were extremely well done and kept me on the edge of my seat, but I couldn't help but yearn for a musical to lighten my mood and leave me with a spring in my step.

I will start to scratch my musical theatre itch again very soon however, as I'm about to get back on the stage myself. I'm ecstatic to be joining the cast of Spamalot in Axminster and will start rehearsals in May.

The hilarious musical comedy, based on Monty Python and the Holy Grail will be staged at the Guildhall in September and I'm playing the coveted role of the Lady of the Lake, a part which has been played by the likes of Bonnie Langford and Jodie Prenger, so I'll be sure to ask their advice before I start.

Next week I'm off to see a play called Seventeen at the Lyric Hammersmith which sees a cast of veteran actors take on the role of a group of teenagers-before I get to have a look at the newly reopened Bush Theatre.

I'm then off to see Stepping Out, which stars Amanda Holden and has had a last minute cast change due to Tamsin Outhwaite breaking her foot. Her replacement is a highly acclaimed musical theatre performer called Anna Jane Casey, someone I have a huge amount of admiration for, so I'm actually really pleased I will get to see her. As she is an outstanding dancer, I'm hoping her twinkle toes will help to 'Tap my troubles away'.

GUINNESS BEER CASTLE

ONE of Ireland's most historic homes is for sale. Celebrate St. Patrick's Day and 'drown the shamrock' at the Guinness Beer Castle that has reigned over the rolling emerald hills of Ireland near Dublin since the 18th century. In recent history, the castle housed Guinness-beer heiress Oonagh, Lady Oranmore and Browne, one of the three "golden Guinness girls," who entertained lavishly and whose guests have included the Rolling Stones, Anjelica Huston (who grew up next-door), Luciano Freud, and U2's Bono.

Dublin's most famous export, Guinness beer, first arrived in the United States on the shore of North Carolina in 1817 under the direction of Arthur Guinness II, first heir to the company. The dark ale, known as stout, became an instant hit as it spread its delicious exports around the world. Today, offering eleven distinct varieties, thousands of bottles will be consumed on St. Patrick's Day, a one-day break from Lent, after sixteen days of building up a powerful thirst. Though to many Americans, St. Patrick's Day has evolved into green beer and a drinking free-for-all, if you're heading to Dublin to celebrate and take a tour of the Guinness castle, be forewarned that you'll probably be doing it with other tourists in the Guinness' Temple Bar neighborhood because when the parade is over most of the locals head home to a nice dinner and an evening of calm entertainment.

The castle, named Luggala, is on 5,000 acres and lies within its original 18th-century gardens surrounded by old Irish oaks, emerald lawns, heather and wildflowers overlooking the dark blue water of Lough (Lake) Tay. Though not of massive proportions and tall spires, Luggala, a former hunting lodge, is comprised of 19,099 square feet of living space with a total of 27 bedrooms and 18 full baths. With its low-lying crenellated roofline, the white-washed structure makes a striking statement against the dark-wooded backdrop. Leaning toward Gothic style, it is awash with little battlements, crochets, trefoil and quatrefoil windows and ogee mantelpieces throughout. Structures on the property include the main house with seven bedrooms, dining room, large entrance hall, three main reception rooms and library, a four-bedroom guest house and another 17 bedrooms between seven lodges and cottages within the estate. A fascinating story of the estate's history can be found in "Luggala Days: The Story of a Guinness House" by Robert O'Byrne, who tells that it was once called "the most decorative honey pot in Ireland" and elaborates on its scandals and intrigues.

Now for sale, the 18th-century castle that beer bought and was always known as a house of great welcome and happiness, according to historians, is priced at $29.5 million or about 28 million euros.

Lanehouse Bridport tops list of Vauxhall retailers for customer satisfaction

THE team at Vauxhall retailer, Lanehouse Bridport, is celebrating after it was named the number one Vauxhall retailer in the country for customer satisfaction.

To celebrate Lanehouse Bridport's ranking as number one retailer in the country in the second half of 2016, service advisor, David Barnes, will be jetting out to Dubai. David will enjoy an all-expenses paid four day trip to the sunny Emirate in April courtesy of Vauxhall in recognition of the team's hard work and dedication.

The results of Vauxhall's Service Satisfaction survey, which looks at the Vauxhall customer experience following servicing or repair of a vehicle, is testament to the exemplary service provided by the team at Lanehouse Bridport. With the service team receiving such positive feedback from customers, the retailer found it extremely difficult to award the prize of a trip to Dubai to one person, so to show its appreciation Lanehouse Bridport treated Jan Hall, another service advisor, to a luxury spa break.

David comments: "I'm absolutely over the moon to be going to Dubai. Ensuring customers are happy with our service we deliver is our top priority, so to be rewarded for our commitment to that is fantastic. We, as a team, always try to give a good experience so I'm delighted that we are now number one in the country for customer satisfaction. This really was a team effort but I'm the lucky one who gets to enjoy the reward so I would like to say thanks to my colleagues for their hard work."

Heath Thresher, general manager at Lanehouse Bridport, adds: "We really can't thank our customers enough for their support; we are over the moon with the results of the survey. It's one thing to receive such positive feedback but quite another to know that we have offered the best service in the country, and it's all credit to our team."

"Customer satisfaction is always our top priority, and each and every customer, both existing and new, can be confident they will receive a detailed and personal experience that meets each of their needs. It's good customer service that keeps customers coming back to us time and time again, so we will do everything we can to ensure this level of excellent customer experience."

For more information on Lanehouse or the Vauxhall range, please contact Lanehouse Bridport at

Vance magic seals vital win

Dorchester Town 1 Kings Langley 0
EvoStik South Premier – att: 393

A SUPERB Jon Vance free kick helped Dorchester Town complete their second win in four days and ease their Evo-Stik South Premier League relegation worries.

The victory over fellow strugglers Kings Langley means the Magpies have now won four of their last six and move 13 points clear of the relegation places.

There was little action in a scrappy first half not helped by a pitch that cut up and made life difficult for both sides.

The visitors had first sight of goal but Lewis Toomey could only head Jerry Amoo's cross over the bar, before Tom Blair waited too long after being put through the Kings defence by Ollie Mehew's neat turn, and was blocked out.

Dean Hitchcock volleyed over from 35 yards before Mehew dwelt on the ball too long and was crowded out after Vance had set him up. Phil Ormrod, despite suffering from flu all week showed what an asset he is up front, competing and winning a lot of balls and putting the Kings defence under pressure, both on the ground and in the air, whilst Vance and Ollie Griggs combined well in midfield.

Just before half time Magpies' keeper Shane Murphy struggled to hold a tame shot from Kieran Turner that bobbed on the surface, before Jorell Johnson's stabbed effort from close range struck the crossbar and went over.

The Magpies finally broke the deadlock on 56 minutes when neat interplay between Blair and Griggs saw Mehew grounded by Kings defender Sam Tring 22 yards from goal.

The visitors claimed that there was no contact, but referee Lee Rutter stood his ground and after some minor altercations, booked Tring for the offence, colleague Gary Connolly for arguing the point, and Walker for becoming involved. Vance, celebrating his 35th birthday, ensured his Man of the Match award by nonchalantly firing an exquisite free kick into the top corner of the goal - his first goal for the club.

Now staring defeat in the face, the Kings pushed forward, but a well drilled home defence generally held them at bay although midway through the half, Murphy did well to parry an Amoo shot at point blank range that deflected off Toby Down on the way.

Vance was revelling in the sticky conditions and his fierce angled shot was well saved by keeper Xavi Comas at his near post.

Almost immediately Toomey was presented with a free header from Connolly's free kick, but glanced it wide.

Things started to get a little heated and Jack Pattison hacked down Ollie Davis on the touchline, the only resultant action being a booking for Griggs who had no part of it.

Vance could have sealed the game for Dorchester 10 minutes from time but his chip over the stranded Comas was headed off the line by Johnson, whilst Kings could have salvaged a point in added time but Ryan Plowright's header through a crowded goalmouth only found the arms of Murphy.

The win does not see Dorchester, currently 17th, safe from the threat of relegation just yet but will calm anxious nerves ahead of Saturday's trip to 15th placed St Ives Town.

Dogged Blues dig in for win

AFC Portchester 0 Portland United 2

Wessex Premier – att: 74

ON a pitch totally unsuitable for flowing football, Portland United produced a dogged, no frills performance that saw them maintain their winning run.

Two second half goals from Ryan McKechnie ensured the Blues kept in touch of the top two Moneyfields and Blackfield & Langley, although but for some fine goalkeeping by Cameron Scott, the score could have been bigger.

Assistant manager Mark Carter said: "It was not a pitch for flowing football. It meant we had to dig in and get the ball forward quickly, and show another side of our game."

Portland started at a blistering pace and Ed Bastick having got in behind the home defence pulled the ball back to Jamie Beasley, but his shot was cleared off the line, before Bastick presented Darren Watts with a similar chance, but again the midfielders effort was blocked.

Then, with 12 minutes on the clock, the Blues had a chance to go ahead from the penalty spot.

McKechnie, having turned the last defender, was pulled back and a free kick awarded. Beasley's initial effort was blocked, but picking up the rebound he was brought down as he weaved his way inside the penalty box.

Scott produced a great save to tip McKechnie's spot kick on to the post, and an even better one to turn Beasley's thundering follow up on to the post and away to safety.

With the Blues management team looking for much the same after the break, McKechnie made the breakthrough in the 48th minute.

Another mazy run down the right by Bastick produced the ideal cross and McKechnie buried his header into the corner from seven yards.

Scott defied Portland as they created more opportunities including another fabulous save from Beasley.

However, all his good work was undone when he misjudged his chase for a loose ball which struck the challenging Beasley and fell to McKechnie who lobbed the ball back over Scott's head from 35 yards into an unguarded net.

Portchester might have made it a nailbiting finish 10 minutes from the end. However, Sean Lillington, having been untroubled all the game, was alert enough to produce a top drawer save and claw the header away from the top corner.

Tonight (Wednesday) Portland face another tough mission away to ALRESFORD TOWN who lie sixth before Saturday's trip to lowly FAWLEY.

DORSET PREMIER

BALTI Sports title hopes were left hanging by a thread after Saturday's 4-1 home defeat at the hands of midtable Blandford United.

Championship favourites Holt United were due to entertain Bridport Reserves last night (Tuesday) when a win would see them close the gap on Balti to just two points with five games in-hand. Balti have no game on Saturday.

DORSET LEAGUE

Senior Division

LEAGUE leaders Witchampton won 3-2 at Blandford Reserves while second placed Dorchester Sports Reserves kept up the pressure with a 4-2 win away at Portland Utd Reserves whose goals came from Connor Milnes and Sam Nicholl-Major.

Two goals for Warren Wright were enough for Chickerell Utd to win 2-1 away at Corfe Mullen Utd.

Division One

PORTLAND Utd Youth went down 3-0 at leaders Broadstone, at the same time Portland Town were thrashed 9-3 at Wool & Winfrith with Alex Counter (2) and Danny Shepherd netting the consolation.

Meanwhile, Weymouth A hammered Swanage Town 7-1 with goals from Jake Pitney (2), Dean Taylor (2), Ady Brain, Matt West and Derek Wall.

Division Two

PIDDELEHINTON won 2-1 at Portesham Utd with Matt Croxson on target for the hosts.

Maiden Newton beat visiting Milborne Port Reserves 3-2 thanks to goals from Rhys Legg, Dan Gardiner and Billy Greenway.

Not such a good day for Chickerell Utd Reserves who were hammered 6-1 on their own turf by Stalbridge.

Division Four

BRAD Wilcock, Darius Binden, Luke Moorley and Craig Mewton all netted for Portesham Reserves as they beat visitors Lytchett 4-1.

Finally, Matt Brown scored the goal which earned Portland Town B a point from their trip to Crossways.

Rugby

Half century for vibrant Villagers

Puddletown RFC 53
Ellingham & Ringwood RFC 2nds 5
Dorset & Wilts Division Two South

FOR the second time in a week Puddletown saw off the challenge of opposition from Hampshire, on this occasion it was Ellingham & Ringwood 2nds, who at the start of the day were sitting one place behind Puddletown in the Dorset & Wilts Division 2 South table writes Ian Frizzle.

From the kick off the hosts looked the stronger and were soon in the lead after a well worked scissors move under the posts saw Tom Yeatman score the first try, which he duly converted.

Soon after, good interplay between the backs and forwards provided Sam Bailey with space and he fed Dan Udell who powered over to score with Yeatman again adding the extras.

The game continued in the same vein, albeit with the home side trying to over complicate and often losing possession.

However, from a 15m lineout Joe Malpas caught and fed the ball off the top and good hands out through the backs created space for Jez Beale to offload to Jumbo Perrett to drive over by the sticks. Yeatman duly bisected the uprights.

The visitors tried to clear their lines with a kick downfield but full back Baz Dovell caught and passed to rookie winger Sam Holt who made good ground before finding captain Jez Beale who scored in the corner. This time the conversion was missed.

Towards the end of the first half, a period of messy play in midfield resulted in Puddletown No. 8 Pearce Mercer picking up a loose ball in his own half and bursting through the now desperate Ellingham defence and sprinting clear to score. Converted by Tom Yeatman.

After the break the Villagers continued to pile the pressure onto the visitors.

Another Ellingham clearance failed to make touch and Baz Dovell fielded well before offloading to Sam Holt. Eventually the ball reached Jez Beale who went over to score and unconverted try.

Once again good pressure from the home team resulted in an Ellingham scrum on their own 5m line, the ball was won by Puddletown against the head and quick ball was passed out to Baz Dovell who went over to score an unconverted try.

The Hampshire side showed good spirit in passages of play. A scrum penalty against Puddletown in their own 22m was quickly taken and fed out to the Ellingham outside centre who went over to score their only points of the game.

Back at the other end, the home side continued to put good phases of play together and, after recycling the ball numerous times, it was fed out to prop Jono Wilson who ran into score.

With time running out for the visitors, the referee awarded them a penalty 30m out. With no time for the lineout Ellingham took the option to kick for goal, the kick went wide and was caught behind the home try line by winger Jack Langmead who, rather than dotting the ball down, ran the ball back into play and, after a breath-taking passage of running rugby, captain Jez Beale went over to score his hat-trick.

Seasiders' second half turnaround

Lytchett Minster 12 Weymouth &amp; Portland 24

Dorset &amp; Wilts Division One (S)

WEYMOUTH & Portland had to come from behind to seal a worthy victory against a side who had visibly improved since their visit to Monmouth Avenue earlier in the season.

Trailing 12-7 at the break the Seasiders got their act together in the second half to score twice and extend their winning ways to five games.

Wing Bryn Llewellyn was the first half try scorer with skipper Ryan Lewendon converting the extras.

After the break centre Ian Dixon and full back Carl Neal touchdown for the visitors with Lewendon again converting both tries, and also adding a penalty to give them victory.

Team manager Vaughan Carter said: "With some of our lads away at Twickenham, I doubted that we would be able to put out a reasonable side. In the end we had enough quality in the squad to be able to do just that, although it took a few minutes for the team to settle, and we did deserve the win despite conceding an early try."

He added: "However, we still have to improve our discipline and play the game to the referee's interpretation of the laws. Again we had two players despatched to the sin bin - there is no point moaning when decisions don't go your way so that has to stop."

"Apart from that, we played well and although it was sometimes frustrating to stand on the touchline and watch the lads give away too many penalties they did say that they enjoyed playing."

Dorchester Cricket

Dorchester looking to youth for future

■ SKIPPER:
Simon Mitchem

DORCHESTER Cricket Club is looking forward, with a number of new innovations this season to increase their already healthy youth policy.

The introduction of an ECB All Stars Cricket club is the first step in the national pathway for cricket.

The programme is aimed at inspiring children aged five to eight to take up cricket and provide a great first experience of the game, with fun at its heart.

Open to boys and girls the club will run on Saturday mornings between 10am and 12 noon starting May 1st at the club headquarters at The Rec on Weymouth Avenue.

With the club having installed a bar and cafe area last season and a new patio area also available, parents and family are invited to enjoy a drink whilst watching the children receive tuition.

This season the club are also introducing a new all girls' team under coach Jo Haysom, and would like to welcome any girls up to the age of 15-16 years old.

Training will take place on Wednesday evenings between 6-8pm along with the other six current youth teams, under the guidance of ECB Level 3 head coach Sean Fitzgerald.

Sean who is the highest qualified coach in the western side of Dorset, and will also coach the senior sides, can offer one-to-one's where appropriate.

The club have chosen a three man management committee to run the first team who start their Premier League season with a tasty local derby against Martinstown on May 6th.

Simon Mitchem will again skipper the team, with James Dunham his vice-captain. Former captain Dan Belt will make up the trio, and will assume responsibility on the field.

Kiwi Bharat Popli has been confirmed as the club's overseas player. A good top order batsman he can also bowl leg spin, and will be available for the first half of the season.

Malcolm Stroudley has stood down as captain of the second team. However he will also be available for some games, but has decided to become involved with umpiring which will mean he will not always be available.

As a result Mike Peak will take over as skipper, with Pete Diffey his vice-captain.

The Sunday XI will be captained by Eiron Fitzgerald, and the evening league side will be run by Josh Foot.

Bridport FC - Bees news

Hunter's double boosts third team

Wool & Winfrith 1 Bridport A 3
Dorset League Division Four

FOR the second week running Bridport A manager Mark Scadding was critical of their host's pitch, which he described as a "shocking leveller".

But in the end it made no difference as his charges secured the victory that sees them move into second place in the Dorset League Division Four in their quest for promotion.

Playing down the slope, the Bees should have scored within 20 seconds of the start, the first of many opportunities that went begging, before Josh Hunter put them in front.

However, Wool pressed and soon found an equaliser to send the teams in level at half time.

With the advantage of the slope after the break, Wool pumped endless balls into the Bees' box, but central defenders James Pitcher and James Legg and keeper Jordan Scadding were equal to the arial assault, although the Wool keeper also had to be on his mettle, making several good saves.

With Harry Fleet and Callum Middleton controlling midfield, Bridport finally got the breakthrough they deserved following a sublime Brandon Scadding turn and shot and, although the hosts continued to push and probe, Hunter then secured victory with his second.

Manager Scadding warned that his side must learn to take their chances, he said: "Several players must learn that other teams will take advantage of this, and given the opportunity they must take those chances and put games to bed much earlier."

The Bridport third string are now just six points behind leaders Swanage RBL with four games in-hand.

Tough weekend

WITH three key players of a tight squad missing, Bridport U13s found last weekend's Cup competition exacting writes Noel Gregory.

Sidney Peck debuted at hooker, Captain Tom Craven played at lock, Number 8, and Centre in the three games, but the speed of the opposition to the loose ball proved decisive.

Having lost 4-1 to North Dorset, and 7-1 to Dorchester, the Blues raised their game against Weymouth, but even with tries by Oliver Hansford-Harvey, George Found, and Tom Craven, they ran out of time to lose 4-3.

However, Dorchester and North Devon have agreed to be on Bridport's fixture list next season.

To compete against teams of this calibre, the Blues will have to work on fitness and securing that loose ball!

Deem sinks debut ace!

THE March Medal attracted only the brave who weathered the elements writes Richard Jackman.

And it was Keith Gibson who made hay while the wind blew and rain fell to win with nett 75 leaving Peter Beviss to just beat Simon Leech into second place on countback, both with 76.

In the Seniors' March Stableford, club captain Mark Lewis was made to work hard by Michael Gill as both ended on 38 points. Both had excellent front nines, but Mark's better back nine won the day. Nick Franks came third with 37 points.

The outright winner in Division Two was Ken Lavery whose 36 points beat Steve Harlow who had a better countback score than Colin Conn, both tied on 34.

The Ladies Teague Foursomes

is always an interesting competition as high and low handicappers are paired together and the top eight pairs go on to play in the next round.

Best to qualify were Susan Moore & Jane Broome with Rosie Jackman & Ros Clammans in second place and Gilly Madill & Carole Ponchaud, taking third. With less than eight shots separating the top eight there's all to play for.

One of the club's success stories has been the social golf which regularly attracts 30 or more mixed golfers who play in teams of three followed by a smashing meal at Green's restaurant.

Last Sunday, Brian Deem achieved a first time hole-in-one with a superb shot on the eighth hole.

Rob and Roy scoop Luton Ladle trophy

THE men's Sunday competition was The Atherton Cup - a Flag Greensome off half of the combined handicaps.

Two teams carried on past the 18th and the cup winners who got to the second fairway were Nigel Challis (19) and Dave Smith (13). In second were Kevin Jones (9) and Lawrence Turner (23) who got to within two feet of the hole on the first.

Doug Miners (13) and Robin Ormsby (19) finished third and their final shot was on the 17th where they putted out.

Veteran's Section

After having competitions

cancelled in February due to bad weather, March has so far been much kinder to the veterans.

Their latest competition was The Luton Ladle - a Greensome competition when 28 teams took part. Scoring was extremely tight, and positions were determined by one point or best back nine, right down to the 22nd place.

Roy Mathisen (20) & Robert Froy (28) took the silverware with 39 points closely followed by Dave Buckland (21) & Dougie Howells (19) with 38.

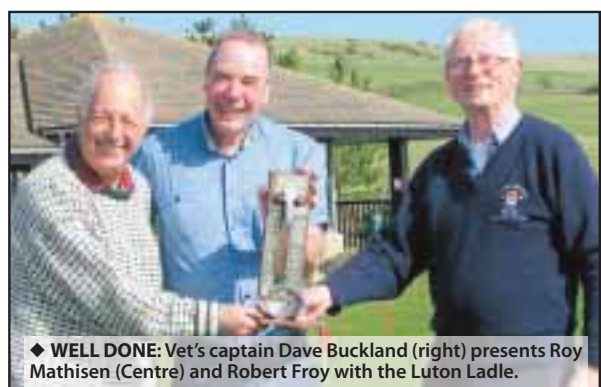

The next three teams all scored 37 points with Howard Bonfield (16) and Tony Williams (28) taking third place after count-back.

Meanwhile the Saturday and Tuesday Ladies played their first EG Medal or a qualifying Stableford of 2017.

Saturday was showery with a strong wind but the lucky Tuesday ladies had dry, still conditions.

Results - Division One: 1st Carole Brown 93-15=78, 2nd Judy Walters 98-16=82. Division Two: 1st Lyn Jessopp 103-25=78, 2nd Liz Thompson 102-23=79. Division Three: 1st Avril Brown 113-32=81, 2nd Wendy Newton 118-35=83. Qualifying Stableford: 1st Carole Hedley, 2nd Di Neal.

Bridport Indoor Bowls

Home advantage the key in triples defeat

HOME advantage proved decisive as Bridport's Mike Long, Brian Rumble & Chris Thorne bowed out County Triples at the semi-final stage.

The trio put up a brave performance but were beaten 17-14 by a very good Dolphin team at Poole.

Meanwhile, the Ladies A team continued their recent great form in the County League Division One when they picked up maximum points at home against Dorchester A. Francis Hewett, Laura Taylor, Pat Cornick & Margaret Clapp won 26-15 with Pamela Daters, Liz Walker, Nola Stephens & Margaret Pestelle also victorious 17-11.

Meanwhile, Bridport entertained Chardstock for the first time in a four-rink triples match and ran out winners 79-56 overall. Sharon Heath, Brian Suffling & Robin Pither won 28-10 while Sylvia and Mike Fletcher & Penny Pither triumphed 22-7.

However, Chardstock also won two rinks with Sue Jenkin, Les Heath & Bob Hill losing 16-18 and Joyce and Kevin Rendell & David Jenkin going down 8-21.

Elsewhere, Beryl Stork, Derek Earwood, Jenny Harding & Keith Jenkins (21-150) were Bridport's only winners in the six-rink mixed friendly at Dorchester.

Bernard Perry, Sharon Heath, Nova Varney & Brian Baker dropped a two count on the last end to lose 18-20, whilst Peter Carnell, Peter Varney, Pat Cowmeadow & Ken Sanger were 13-4 up but slumped to a 17-22 loss.

Poor finishes by Sylvia and Mike Fletcher, David Jenkin & Harry Gray and Pam Gray, Brian Parker, David Aylott & Phil Hedges, saw them beaten 14-20, 9-17 respectively.

West Dorset Hockey

Hawks on top in relegation battle

Plymouth Grammar School Old Boys 3 West Dorset Hawks 4

WITH four teams relegated in a league of 12, this was a real crunch match for both teams. Before the game only goal difference separated these two, with West Dorset's poorer record meaning they were in the dreaded fourth bottom spot, and with only two games remaining after this clash, it was imperative they claimed victory.

It looked so easy at half time as the Hawks led 3-0, but a second half comeback saw the Plymouth Grammar School Old Boys level the scores, before Matt Stone scored the winner with the last touch of the match.

It all started well, with a sweet move that found Stone sweeping the ball into the goal. Shortly afterwards Hawks were awarded a penalty stroke after a Plymouth player was penalised for feet following a short corner, and Alex Davies stepped forward to neatly slot home.

Whilst West Dorset never looked that convincing, they converted their opportunities whilst keeper Tom Lowe had a storming game, shutting out the hosts.

Just before half time, Hawks increased their lead when a shot into the D was deflected into his own goal by a home defender.

As so often happens recently with West Dorset, it all changed in the second half; a few dubious refereeing decisions helping Plymouth's cause including their first goal.

Following a good five second delay, the umpire having watched Julian May make a perfectly legal waist high stick stop, decided in retrospect that he had used his arm, and awarded a penalty stroke allowing Plymouth to get back in the game.

Even then, to rub salt into the wound, the stroke was mishit sending Lowe the wrong way and just dribbled over the line before he could recover.

West Dorset's frustration and tiredness started to show, and the umpire was keen to use his cards resulting at one point in the Hawks only having eight players on the pitch.

With minutes remaining PGSOB equalised, and there appeared only one likely result, but Alex Davies was determined to get the lead back, pushing the defence with some skilful runs, but to no avail.

Then with the referee about to blow the whistle, Rick Dormor linked up with Davies and when the ball was played into the D where Stone just got a touch before the keeper, and for once West Dorset got the luck as the ball barely rolled into the unguarded net before the umpires blew for time.

West Dorset's destination is in their own hands now, as victory saw them move up to sixth, but with only two sides already relegated, any two of the five above including the Hawks can go down, so close is the situation.

However, next Saturday they host Taunton Vale C, already condemned, before travelling to Exeter to play third bottom ECV Hornets A in their final game of the season.

A team return to winning ways

WEST DORSET A 9 TAUNTON VALE D 0

AFTER three straight defeats, West Dorset A got back to winning ways and moved back into the top half of the South East Division Two with an emphatic win; the score line accurately reflecting the hosts dominance over a depleted Taunton Vale D side.

For a second week running, the Hawks had a squad of 13 to rotate proceedings and keep the momentum firmly in their favour.

The attacking threat of wingers Richard Wilson and Krystian Dubas, along with striker Russell Coombes had the visitors on the back foot for most of the game, and they received excellent service from the midfield.

It didn't take long before the floodgates opened, although Dan Wyatt's opener was a relatively tame effort. Coombes soon added second following excellent play from Dubas down the right wing.

A 4-0 lead was taken into half time with the Hawks preventing the visitors a single shot on goal.

The Hawks picked up a few unnecessary cards during proceedings, and at one stage were down to nine men, but even two players down they added a further two goals such was their dominance as they cruised home with Coombes bagging four, Wyatt a hat trick and a brace from Richard Wilson.

The visitors finally managed a shot on goal five minutes from time from a short corner, which was dealt with comfortably by captain Alex Drew in goal.

Hawks look to carry this convincing display into their last away game of the season this Saturday, as they take on second bottom Dart A.

Bridport Gig Racing

Strong results at first regatta of the season

BRIDPORT gig rowing club's squads travelled to Saltash recently for their first event of the 2017 racing season.

The Three Rivers event sees racing over a roughly 10km course, starting and finishing under the Brunel Bridge, with a series of bowside and strokeside turns with and against the strong tidal flow.

Three ladies and two men's teams have been training hard over the winter for this marathon style race – the longest in the calendar.

Battling both wind and tide, the ladies set off in heats of 15 boats, two minutes apart at 9.30am.

In heat two the ladies A team, rowing in Dagger finished 28th out of 73 in 01:01:56sec.

The ladies B, in Blaez, finished in 30th place in 01:02:16. Both times were considerable improvements on last year.

The ladies C crew, in 'Rebel' kindly provided by Lyme Regis gig club, finished 67th in 01:10:55. This is the first time Bridport has entered a C crew at this event, and with the help of a new racing gig which is on order – will be able to enter C crews at lots of events this season.

The men's A team set off in heat two and rowed a very strong, but controlled, race to finish in 52:45 putting them in 15th out of 80 - their best ever result at this event.

The men's B crew, with two Saltash debutants, placed 50th in 59:35. The crew gelled really well and stayed strong to shave minutes off of last year's time.

This positive start to the racing season has the crews eagerly looking to their next event in Dartmouth next month, followed by the World Championships at the beginning of May.

If you would like to get involved in rowing – squad or general, please visit the website: www.bridportgigclub.org for information and captains contact details.

Evans the goal! Dean rescues point in Wales

Merthyr Town 2 Weymouth 2Evo-Stik South Premier - att: 828*

DEAN Evans secured a point at Penydarren Park on Saturday as Weymouth came back twice to equalise, although they made hard work of it after Merthyr Town were reduced to 10 men early in the second half.

The Martyrs, who had been going well and had been unbeaten in 11 since early December until a recent glitch that saw them fail to win in three, were looking to build on their 5-2 victory at Biggleswade last week and get back on track, having slipped to fifth in the promotion race.

Weymouth on the other hand had not won in five before beating Kettering 3-2 in their last game, and were looking to kick on, although their promotion aspirations died long ago.

Merthyr almost took a third minute lead when Keyon Reffell thumped a 30-yarder against the crossbar, but finally

by Stuart Broom
broom2006@btinternet.com

went ahead on 16 minutes through captain Ashley Evans, with a sublime volley that screamed into the top corner of Tom McHale's goal.

It was half an hour before Weymouth's first real effort on goal; keeper Oliver Davies parrying Charlie Davis' effort, before McHale smothered Kayne McLaggon's effort.

Stuart Fleetwood had a chance of equalising just before the break but pulled his shot wide of goal.

Merthyr continued to probe after the interval and McHale again had to be alert to save at Jack Compton's feet at the near post, before the Martyrs were reduced to 10 men in the 53rd minute; Reffell being red carded after an off the ball incident.

A player to the good Weymouth started to exert some pressure, and they were rewarded in the 73rd minute when Fleetwood beat Jarrad Wright to the ball to lob over a stranded Davies into an empty net.

However, Merthyr didn't lie down, and four minutes later they regained the lead. A quick break caught the Terras defence on the hop and Ian Traynor's low ball saw Corey Jenkins scythed down inside the box. Sub Kyle Copp kept his cool to slot home the spot kick, sending McHale the wrong way.

Finally Weymouth made the numerical advantage count, and Evans was on hand to head home a right wing cross to earn the Terras a point.

Last night, Weymouth were due to entertain relegation threatened HAYES & YEADING, who if last week's performance at Dorchester is anything to go by, won't be a pushover. This is followed by Saturday's visit by another of the strugglers CAMBRIDGE CITY (3pm ko).
